Chris O'Brien thanks Rev Carol and Jay Wagner

Short words from bob ant

As winter sets in and my time as President draws to a close, I'm turning my attention to the disbursement of monies made from all of our hard work during the year.

Yesterday I had a meeting with PE John and now I have a figure with which to work.

I have some ideas and I'm sure you do as well. Please pass your ideas, dreams or visions to me so I can take a finalised submission to the board.

See you Thursday – bob ant.

The RTA is spending more than $1m to find out how unpopular the state government agency is.

The Week 3rd June 2011

The Rev Carol Wagner

The Rev Carol Wagner was our guest speaker last Thursday night.

Carol who was supported by her husband Jay gave us an insight into life as, not only a priest, but as a woman in that role.

Retracing her journey from growing up in a non-religious family to having an encounter with God, at the age of 15.

Jay and Carol built a large music teaching business in Sydney which involved trucks, fitted with a music studio, travelling around schools. They employed 23 staff and taught 800-900 students each week.

After another "God encounter" Carol, after extensive studies, with Jay and family moved to Cooma and now to Narooma where she is the Minister at St Pauls Anglican Church.
